SECTION III.—CATCHES.

UNDER THIS HEADING ROUNDS ARE ALSO INCLUDED.

Harley 978, f. 11b.

Vellum; after 1226 (obit of Abbot Symon, f. 16). Octavo. The same part of the MS. also contains a sort of Miracle-Play (vol. i, p. 242), Motets (p. 253), sacred Songs (p. 423); see also under Solfeggi (below), and under Harmony and Treatises (in vol. iii).

"ROTA" or Round, written in long lines with plain blue or red initials, at Reading Abbey (see Calendar, ff. 15b, 16). Under the English words, "Svmer is icumen in," are written Latin words beg. "Perspice, Christicola." The following instructions are given in the original hand: "Hanc rotam cantare possunt quatuor socii. A paucioribus autem quam a tribus vel saltem duobus non debet dici, preter eos qui dicunt pedem. Canitur autem sic. Tacentibus ceteris, unus inchoat cum hiis qui tenent pedem. Et cum uenerit ad primam notam post crucem, inchoat alius; et sic de ceteris. Singuli uero repauescent ad pausaciones scriptas et non alibi spacio unius longe note." After this follows the "Pes" or ground-bass referred to above, written in 2 parts, in score, and accompanied by instructions where to make the necessary pauses in singing.

The notes are square or diamond-shaped, written on a stave of 5 red lines, with the C B γ signature, and with quasi-bars. Some of them have been altered, especially in the fourth stave, apparently in a contemporary hand.

Among some poems of Walter Map which occur elsewhere in the MS. in a late 13th century hand is one, apparently by that author (f. 85, col. 1, l. 6), in which the late William Chappell has discovered a punning allusion to "rotunde" or rounds, showing that form of music to have been popular in England many years before this MS. was written.

Paper; ff. 73. First half of 18th cent. Oblong folio. Bookplate of [Charles] John Stanley.

TWELVE Duets, with a bass for harpsichord, in score, by Handel. Nos. 1-11 are supposed to have been composed at Hanover in 1710-1712. They are included, but in a different order, in the first series published by the Händel-Gesellschaft. No. 12 is there replaced by "Langue, geme" (no. 11); it is also excluded from the second series published by the same society. The autograph of it is at Buckingham Palace, where a transcript of part of it (now Add. 31573, f. 53b) was made by Michael Rophino Lacy (below, p. 98; cf. vol. i, p. 386).

"LE BELLE Nimfe": a collection of Madrigals for 6 voices, made apparently at the beginning of the 17th cent. and evidently taken from works then engraved, especially from Il lauro verde, which first appeared in 1583. The dates appended below are those of the first editions in which the Madrigals in question are known to have been published. First and second treble, alto and bass parts. The words are wanting. The foliation is the same in each part.

MADRIGALS for 3 voices, in parts, without words. The dates given below are those of the earliest editions in which they are known to have appeared; but the present parts were probably copied from later editions. No composers are named in the MS.; but the names of those which it has been possible to supply with any degree of certainty have been appended below. Nos. 2, 4, 8 and 13-18 are probably from the 1597 reprint of Madrigali a Tre, originally published in 1551; nos. 30-33 from Canzonetti a tre, 1587; and nos. 40-46 from the 1604 reprint of the Fiori Musicali, of which book i was originally published in 1590, and book ii in 1598. Two or three of the compositions are possibly of a sacred character. The foliation is identical in all the parts.

Paper; after 1604 (see below, after no. 107). Small oblong folio. From the similarity of some of the contents, it seems likely that the MS. was known to the John Forbes, of Aberdeen, whose Songs and Fancies were published in 1662, and to the compiler of the later portions of Add. 33933. See also the Catalogue of Additions for 1900-1903, p. 120. It also contains Anthems, Hymns, sacred and secular Motets, etc.

VOCAL compositions, apparently in the hand of David Melvill alias Melvine, whose name is written in a contemporary hand at the bottom of every page. Unless the contrary is stated, they are for 4 voices. Bass part. The composers' names are not given.

Harley 6855, Art. 13, f. 37b.

Paper; A.D. 1610. Small folio.

“AWAKE softly with singing Oriana sleeping”; for 4 voices, in parts, by H[enry] Pecham. Headed “King Iames his quier.” It is added (in the same hand) at the end of what appears to be the original draft of Pecham’s “Βασιλικον Δωρον Εις Τα Εμβληματα Βασιλικα totum versum,” which is dedicated to James I. At the beginning of this MS. it is described as “Ad Regem . . . cantio votiva, seu congratulatoria, ab alumnis Quatuor Regnorum, Anglo sc., Scoto, Gallo, et Hibernico concinenda.” The presentation copy (Royal 12. A. lxvi), which is dedicated to Prince Henry (see also f. 36b of the present MS.), does not contain the Madrigal.

Egerton 2009–2012, passim.

Paper; after 1611 (see below, no. 39). Oblong duodecimo. Vols. i, iii, and iv belonged in 1669 to Stephen Aldhouse of Matlask, co. Norfolk. The MS. also contains Anthems (vol. i, p. 8), Carols (ib. p. 143), and a Motet (ib. p. 279).

MADRIGALS, etc., by anonymous English composers. In four volumes (treble, alto, “medius,” and bass parts). The number of voices for which they are written is not given, but nos. 1 and 2 are known to be for 4 voices, and the other Madrigals whose composers are identified below are for 5 voices. The tenor is wanting; the alto part (vol. ii), though partly in the same hand and very similar in contents, originally formed part of another collection.

1. “Whyle y’ y’ sunne.” [W. Byrd, 1589.] i, iii, iv, f. 1b.

ODES in full score. The titles below are taken from descriptions in the hand of Dr. Croft.

1. "'Come, come along... for a dance and a song'; composed by Mr. Jeremiah Clarke upon y^e death of y^e famous Mr. Henry Purcell and perform'd upon y^e stage in Druery Lane play house" [1695]. At the top of f. 26b is written: "Mr. Purcell's farewell." Autograph (?). The instruments employed are trumpets, flutes, oboes, strings, kettle-drum and harpsichord. The names of the singers given are Messrs. Freeman, [Richard] Leveridge and Bowen, and Mrs. Cross. "Mr. Clark's Cebell" (sc. gavotte) is included (f. 13) in this composition. f. 3.
2. "'Again the welcome morn': song... by Mr. Dan. Purcell upon y^e Birth Day of... Princess Ann of Denmark... Feb. 6th 1690." The only instruments named are trumpets and violins. The names of the singers appear to have been Messrs. "Hews," [J.] Laroon, Bourdon and "Magnes"; those of Messrs. Pate, Woodson and Freeman are struck out. Partly autograph. f. 36.
3. "'Begin! begin and strike the harmonious lyre': song, composed by Mr. Dan. Purcell and perform'd upon St. Cæcilia's Day att Stationers' Hall." f. 58.
4. "'Who can from joy refraine':" song. Composed by... Hen. Purcell [in 1695] and p^rform'd upon y^e Duke of Gloucester's Birth Day" [b. 1689]; with accompaniments for trumpets, oboes, strings, etc. Autograph. The singers' names given are Howell, [Alexander] Damascene, "Robeart" and Freeman. f. 79.
5. "'The loud' tongu'd warr':" composed by Mr. Dan. Purcell upon King William's return from Flanders" [1697]; with accompaniments for trumpets, oboes, strings and kettle-drum. The only singer's name given is that of Mr. Freeman. Autograph. f. 94.

- | | |
| 1. Ode for St. Cecilia's day, beginning "Hail, bright Cecilia"; with symphonies and accompaniments for trumpets, oboes, flutes, strings and kettle-drum. "Henry Purcell." [1692.] Transcribed in Jan. 1699, in the same hand as Fitzwilliam MS. 30 G. 10, which is (? erroneously) ascribed to Dr. Blow. The names given do not appear to be those of the original singers. ff. 1-37b. 2. Ode for St. Cecilia's day, beg. "Patron of the tuneful Nine"; with symphonies and accompaniments for | trumpets, horns, flutes, oboes, and strings. The name Excell on f. 134 may be meant for [John] Eccles, who is the composer of no. 3. ff. 133-149. 3. "A Song sung before y^e Queen on her birthday" [1693], beg. "Celebrate this Festival": being an arrangement for a treble, with figured bass, of the first part of the ode beginning with those words (cf. Add. 22099, f. 66, below, p. 216). "Hen. Purcell." f. 181b. |

"EUROPE'S Revells on y^e Peace" [of Ryswick, 1697], beg. "Arm, arm, arm, Brittiens" (sic); with symphonies and accompaniments for trumpets, drums, flutes, etc., in score, by John Eccles. Among the singers were Mrs. Willis and Mr. Wiltshire (see f. 123).

Additional 29399.

Paper; ff. 49. Early 18th cent. Folio. Bookplate of Edmund P. Warren Horne.

"A SONG sung att Cecilia's Feast" [1692], beg. "Hail, bright Cecilia"; with accompaniments for trumpets, oboes, flutes, violins, and kettle-drum, in full score, by Henry Purcell. The only singer named is — Woodson.

Additional 31405, ff. 145-153.

Paper; early 18th cent. Folio. See also under Anthems (vol. i, p. 48).

TWO ODES, in score.

- | | |
|--|--|
| 1. "A Song on her majestie's Birth Day" (in honour of Queen Anne), beg. "Blest day, arise." With figured bass, and occasionally parts for oboe, etc. In score. Anonymous. ff. 145-147b. | strings, in score. By Dr. Blow. This copy appears to end with an alto solo, "For frute we'll invoke" (which is not given in Amphion Anglicus), instead of the chorus, "Sing, ye muses, and revere," with which the copy in Add. 31452, f. 67b (below, p. 215), ends. ff. 153-158b. |
| 2. A Marriage Ode, beg. "Bring, shepherds, bring the kids"; with accompaniments for trumpet and | |

Paper; early 18th cent. Folio. See also below, under Operas.

Two Odes to St. Cecilia, in score, by Henry Purcell.

- | | |
|---|--|
| 1. "Hail, bright Cecilia" [1692]; with accompaniments for trumpets, oboes, flutes, violins, and kettle-drum. ff. 1-25b. | 2. "Wellcom to all the pleasures" [1683]; with accompaniments for violins, etc. ff. 26-30b. |
|---|--|

Additional 31452, ff. 15-100.

Paper; early 18th cent. Folio. See also below, under Operas.

ODES, with symphonies and accompaniments for trumpets, strings, etc., in score. Transcribed by Dr. William Croft, with the exception of the last. Nos. 2, 3 (?), 4 and 5 are by Dr. John Blow.

1. "Ode for the Duke of Gloster's birthday . . . July 24th, 1695." With accompaniments for oboes, etc. "Henry Purcell." Begins "Who can from joy refrain." ff. 15-28.
 2. "Welcom, welcome, every guest": styled in the index "opera," but in Add. 31457, f. 1 (above, p. 212), "Ode for St. Cecilia's day." Among the instruments for which it is written are flutes. f. 47.
 3. "The nymphs of y^e wells"; with accompaniments apparently for violins only. Apparently a Birthday Ode for King Charles II, unless it is a continuation of no. 2, which is hardly probable; it is, however, not mentioned in the index. f. 54b.
 4. "Bring, sheaperds, bring y^e kids": a Marriage Ode, ending with the chorus "Sing, yee muses, and reuere," which is not given in Amphion An-
- glicus*. The present version differs in many respects from the one given there. f. 62.
5. "Hail, y^e Infant year": described in the index as "A Bearthday Song," but really for the New Year. f. 71.
 6. "Barbadoes Song," beg. "No more, great Rulers of y^e sky"; written on the occasion of a great hurricane in the island (before the well-known one in 1780). It has a prelude for trumpets, oboes, strings, kettle-drum and theorbo. According to the index (which appears to be in the same hand) it was composed by J. K. [? James Kent, who owned the volume before 1737] or J. R. This is probably a mistake for J. C., sc. Jeremiah Clarke, who is known to have written a Barbadoes song. For the writing compare Add. 31449 and Add. 30934, f. 3. f. 82b.

Additional 31447, ff. 65-147b.

Paper; about 1700. Folio. See also below, under Operas.

ODES by Henry Purcell, in slightly compressed score. They are all written with symphonies and accompaniments for strings, and in most instances for trumpets and oboes also. Other instruments mentioned will be indicated where they occur.

1. "St. Cæcilia's Song, 1692," beg. "Hail, bright Cæcilia"; with flutes, kettle-drum, etc. f. 65.
2. "Yorkshire Song," beg. "Of old when Heroes." "March 27, 1690." f. 79.
3. "Du[ke] of Gloucester's Birth-Day's Song" [1695], beg. "Who can from joy refrain." f. 87.
4. "A wellcom Song . . . 1687," beg. "Sound the trumpet"; with the names of the original singers, Messrs. [John] Abell, — Robart, [Alphonso] Marsh [jun.], [John] Bowman, and [William] Turner. f. 94.
5. "Queen's Birth-Day's Song," beg. "Celebrate this Festivall." "April 30, 1693." f. 100.
6. "A Welcome Song at the Prince of Denmark's comeing home" [1689], beg. "Welcome, vicegerent." f. 107.
7. "Queen's Birth-day Song, 1691," beg. "Welcome, welcome, glorious morn." f. 112.
8. "Queen's Birth-day's Song, 1690," beg. "Arise, my muse." The words by T. D'Urfey. f. 121b.
9. "Queen's Birth-Day's-Song, 1692," beg. "Love's Goddess." The words by Charles Sedley. f. 130.

Additional 31456.

Paper; ff. 29. A.D. 1703. Small folio.

"INSPIRE us . . . genius of y^e day": Ode "for the [Queen's] birthday," 1703, with symphonies and accompaniments for oboes, strings, etc., in score, by John Eccles. Apparently autograph, and in the same hand as the "Macbeth" music in Add. 12219 (see below, under Operas). The names of the [original?] singers given are [Richard] Elford, [Alexander] Damascene, [Daniel] Williams, — Robert, and — Cook. Apparently begun in honour of William III, discontinued at his death on 8 March, 1702, and finally completed in 1703 in praise of Queen Anne.

Additional 31540.

Paper; ff. 94. About 1703 (see below). Folio. The MS. appears to have belonged successively to Joseph Warren, Rev. John Parker, William Russell of Deptford, and V[incent] Novello (1830).

"ODE to Harmony," beg. "Awake . . . Celestial Harmony"; for solo voices and choruses of 4, 5, and 6 voices, with symphonies and accompaniments for trumpets, oboes, and strings, and a figured bass for organ, in score. Composed by Philip Hart, whose signature is at the end (f. 94). Evidently the "Ode in Praise of Musick" written by him in 1703.

Additional 22099, f. 66.

Paper; about 1704–1706. Folio. See also below, under Operas.

"CELEBRATE this Festival," by Henry Purcell. Described in Orpheus Britannicus as "A song sung before the Queen on Her Birthday" [1693], being an arrangement for a single voice of the more elaborate Ode which is given in full in Add. 17835, f. 89, etc. (above, p. 214).

Additional 5052.

Paper; ff. 26. [A.D. 1707?—see below.] Oblong folio.

"'BRITANNIA and Augusta': an Ode in honour of the late [William Cavendish, 1st] Duke of Devonshire, written by Mr. John Hughes, set to music by M. Jn^o Christ. Pepusch"; for 2 solo voices, with Introduction and accompaniments for flutes, oboes, and strings, in score. Begins "Ye Gen'rous Arts."

Additional 31455, parts i–iv, passim.

Paper; after 1713. Small folio. See also below, under Operas.

Additional 17799, 17800.

Paper; ff. 36, 41. A.D. 1659, etc. Octavo and Quarto. Vol. i appears to have belonged successively to Hannah Lanier, Dr. [Philip?] Hayes, and Edward Jones. In 1825, it was sold at Sotheby’s auction-room, and was probably purchased by Sir H. R. Bishop.

“CUPID and Death: a Masque by J[ame]s Shirley, 1653.” Presented before the Portuguese Ambassador, on the 26th of March of that year. The music by Matthew Lock and [Christopher] Gibbons. The characters are a Host, a Chamberlain, Cupid, Folly, Madness, Despair, Death, Nature, a Lover, Two Old Men and Women, a Satyr, Mercury and a 4-part chorus. Vol. I contains a transcript made by Lock, for a later representation at the Military Ground in Leicester Fields, in 1659, and bears his initials on the cover. Vol. II contains: (a) A copy made apparently by Edward Jones [bard to the Prince of Wales], in, or soon after, 1816 (watermark). ff. 1–28;—(b) A modern arrangement of the first Entry, or scene, for horns, flutes, oboes, bassoons, and strings, in score [by Sir Henry Rowley Bishop]. ff. 29–41.

Paper; ff. 69. After 1696 (see below). Folio.

Music in "The Indian Queen"; with overtures and accompaniments for trumpets, oboes, flutes and strings, in score, by Henry Purcell, 1692. It contains the spoken dialogues as well as almost all the symphonies and all the airs in Goodison's edition (1790?), except Mrs. Cross' song, "They tell us that yon mighty Pow'rs," at the end of Act iii. The dances given here at the end of the second and beginning of the third Acts do not appear to be in the printed edition. At f. 59 is added in the same hand what is called in Add. 31453 (below, p. 244) "Last Act," but is really a Masque in Act v, written by Daniel Purcell in 1696. Apparently transcribed by Jeremiah Clarke (cf. Add. 15318, below, and Add. 31452, f. 82b, below, p. 243). The names of the performers for whose use the copy was evidently prepared were Messrs. Mills, [William?] Powell, Harland, Disney, Bowen and [Richard] Leveridge, and M^{mes} Kni[ght] and Roge[rs?].

Paper; ff. 65. About 1699. Folio.

"THE ISLAND Princess' or 'Generous Portuguese'": a pasticcio in 5 Acts by Daniel Purcell, [Jeremiah] Clarke, and [Richard] Leveridge, the words adapted by P[ierre] A[nthoine] Motteux from the play by Fletcher. The Opera was written for solo voices and chorus, with symphonies and accompaniments for trumpets, oboes, strings, and drums, in score, and the names of the actors are given (f. 3, etc.) as in the original printed edition of the libretto (1699).

The greater part of the Opera, including the Masque in Act ii, was the work of D. Purcell; Leveridge is responsible for the Dialogue and "The Enthusiastic Song" in Act iv, and one or two other numbers, and Clarke for the Interlude which follows Act v (f. 49). The MS. is in Clarke's hand.

NUMBERS (for one voice, unless the contrary is expressed), with a bass for harpsichord, in score, from unnamed Operas, by anonymous composers. The names of La Menarina and Sig[nora] Rosana, which are given in vol. i, f. 32, and which, with that of Signor "Chechin" (sc. Ceccino Massimo?), occur frequently in vol. ii, and probably also those of Ferdinando and Spironcino, in vol. ii, ff. 43, 44, appear to be those of singers.

"IL CALIGOLA": Opera in 3 Acts, with symphonies and accompaniments for strings (?) and a figured bass for harpsichord, in score. Anonymous. In the same hand as Add. 14238, below, and probably by the same composer [? G. A. Boretti]. The characters are: Gelosia, Costanza and Delirio (in the prologue); Caligola, Artabano, Teosena, Gelsa, Nesbo, Claudio, Domitio, Cesonia and Tigrane.

Additional 14238.

Paper; ff. 117. Late 17th cent. Oblong folio. In binding similar to that of Add. 14237, above.

"ERCOLE in tebbe": Opera in 3 Acts, with symphonies and accompaniments for strings (?) and a figured bass, for harpsichord, in score. In one scene a flourish of trumpets is introduced. Anonymous. Probably by G. A. Boretti, 1671. An alternative ending is added at f. 111b. Characters: Ercole, Ilo, Pelio, Aristeo, Iole, Megara, Clitarco, Caronte, Tersillo, Pluto, Proserpina, Venere, Teseo, and Tiferne.

Additional 16045.

Paper; ff. 283. Late 17th cent. Large folio. Belonged to Domenico Dragonetti.

DRAMATIC compositions in French, with overtures, ritournelles, symphonies, etc., and accompaniments for strings, flutes, oboes (nos. 5-7), and trumpets and drums (no. 6), with a figured bass for harpsichord, in score. By Jean Baptiste Lully. They are his eight earliest works, but are not arranged in chronological order. Unless the contrary is stated, they are in 5 Acts, preceded by a Prologue.

1. "La Mascarade" (sc. "Le carnaval," Oct., 1675): a pastorale in 4 scenes. Characters: Le Carnaval, La Galanterie, Three Spaniards (who sing in Spanish), Musicians, Basques, and Chorus of Pleasures; Thyrsis, Filenus, Lichas, etc. f. 2.
2. "La feste de l'amour et de Bac[c]hus" [1672]: pastorale in 2 (?) Acts. Characters: Polymnia, Melpomene, and Euterpe; Thyrsis, Lycastus, Menander, Clymene, Callisto, Silvander, F[I]orestan, Damon, Chloris, Arcas, Shepherds and Shepherdesses. f. 23.
3. "Psyché" [1678]: tragedy in 3 Acts. Characters: Flora, with Chorus of Nymphs, etc.; Aglaure, Cydippus, Vulcan, a Cyclops, Venus, Apollo, Momus, Muses, Silenus, Satyrs, etc. In the 1st Act (at f. 53b) is introduced à "Plainte Italienne Chantée par deux hommes affligéz et par vne femme desolée." f. 45.
4. "Cadmus [et Hermione, 1673]": tragedy. Characters: Pallas, Melissa, Pan, the Sun, and Chorus of Shepherds; Hermione, a Grace, Aglante and her Nurse, three Africans, a Giant, Arbas, Cadmus, Love, two Tyrian Princes, the High Priest of Mærs, Mars himself, Juno, Pallas, Jupiter, Hymen, etc. f. 73.
5. "Thesée" [Jan., 1675]: tragedy. Characters: Chorus of Graces and Pleasures, Venus, Mars, Chorus of Reapers, Ceres, and Bacchus; Ægle, Cleone, Arcas, Theseus, High Priestess, Medea, Dorina, two Old Men, Inhabitants of Enchanted Isle, etc. f. 115.
6. "Alceste" [1674]: tragedy. Characters: Nymphs of the Seine and the Marne, and of the Tuileries, La Gloire, Tritons, etc.; Alcides, Lichas, Strato, Cephissus, Lycomedes, Chorus of Thessalians, Soldiers, Admetus, Thetis, the Winds, Æolus, Aquilo, Zephyrus, Pheres, Alcestes, Cleanthes, Apollo, Diana, Charon, Alecto, Pluto and his Followers, Proserpine, etc. f. 157.
7. "Atys" [1676]: tragedy. Characters: Time, Flora, Spring, Zephyrs, and Melpomene; Atys, Idas, Sangarides, Cybele, Celenus, King of Phrygia, Melissa, Chorus of Phrygians, Doris, Morpheus, Fancy, Phobetor, Sangarius, Corybantes, etc. This copy differs considerably from Add. 24304 (see below), which is much fuller. f. 214.
8. "Isis" [1677]: tragedy. Characters: Neptune and Tritons, Renown, Apollo,

Calliope, and Melpomene; Hierax, Pyrantes, Mercury, Jupiter, Isis, Hebe, two Nymphs, Argus, Pan,	Syrinx, the three Fates, Io, Juno, etc. f. 261.

INCIDENTAL music to Macbeth, with symphonies and accompaniments for serpent and other instruments, in score, in the same hand as the Ode by John Eccles in Add. 31456 (above, p. 216), and apparently autograph. In Add. 29378, ff. 57–95 (below, p. 242), consisting almost entirely of works by Eccles, the composition of this music is ascribed to him without reserve. The copy in the latter MS. was evidently taken from the present one, probably before the mutilation of the last page, which may possibly have contained the composer's name. The resemblance of the music to that popularly known as Matthew Lock's is very slight. For a further description of the MS., see Oliphant's Catalogue of MS. Music in the British Museum, 1842. Besides the singers mentioned there, the present MS. contains the names of — Nicholson, a tenor, and — Wiltshire, a bass (ff. 1697). For the former the name of — Short was substituted, apparently in a contemporary hand, and for the latter that of — Cook, which has been put in the place of each of the other 4 basses in turn.

"IL TRIONFRO (sic) di Camilla: Opera Del Sig^r Giou. Bono[ncin]i"; in 3 Acts, with symphonies and accompaniments for strings, and a bass (occasionally figured) for a harpsichord and in one number for 2 harpsichords, in score. Apparently the same as the opera described in Riemann's Opern-Handbuch (2nd supplement) as "Camilla, regina de' Volsci. . . von M. Ant. Buononcini. . . (Wien, 1697)." This latter date is corroborated by Add. 14186 (below), which contains airs from the same opera; it is, however, there (as in the present MS. and Add. 31542, below) ascribed to Giovanni Buononcini (see description of the latter MS. in the Catalogue of Additions, and Burney's History of Music, vol. iv, p. 210). Characters: Camilla, Linco, Prenesto, Mezio, Lavinia, Tullia, Turno, Latino, Sabino, etc.

In the Catalogue of Additions for 1846 said to be by J. E. Galliard or Dr. Pepusch. It is probably part of the Masque of "Myrtillo," by the latter composer [1716]. Characters: Florimel, Myrtillo, Cupid, and Satyr.

Additional 15992.

Paper; ff. 156. Early 18th cent. Oblong quarto.

"TURNO Aricino": musical drama in 3 Acts, with symphonies and accompaniments for trumpets, "schalmaux" or "chalamaux" (sc. chalumeaux), flutes, oboes, bassoons, and strings, including viol d' amore, and a figured bass for harpsichord, in score. The words by Silvio Stampiglio, the music by Giovanni Battista Buononcini [about 1710]. Characters: Turno Erdonio, Egeria, Livia, Lucio Tarquinio Superbo, Gemino, Ottavio Mamilo, and Ascanio.

Additional 15993.

Paper; ff. 133. Early 18th cent. Oblong folio. Belonged to Charles Wesley, and afterwards to Domenico Dragonetti.

"VENCESLAO": musical drama in 5 Acts, with symphonies and accompaniments for oboes, horns, trumpets, and strings, in score. By Giovanni Maria Capelli; the words by Apostolo Zeno. Characters: Ernando, Venceslao, Casimiro, Alessandro, Gismondo, Lucinda, and Erenice, with a short 4-part Chorus at the end.

score. Burney, History of Music, vol. iv, p. 206, speaks of this pasticcio as "Love's Triumph," under which name an English version was published in 1708, containing all the songs in the present MS. except "Liso, non paumentar" (f. 33), "Se tu sei la mia vita" (f. 67), "Vi sento, vi miro" (f. 76), and "Un fido cor" (f. 91), which last two airs are here ascribed to Scarlatti, together with other airs probably by Francesco Gasparini, whose name Burney mentions as one of the contributors; he makes no mention of Scarlatti or Buononcini. Characters: Eurilla, Serpetta, Liso, Licisca, etc.

Characters: Mercury, Paris, Juno, Pallas, Venus, etc.

Additional 31447, ff. 2-64, 148-151b.

Paper; about 1700. Folio. Inside the cover is written in pencil the name J. Pears, Bath. The MS. also contains some of Purcell's Odes (above, p. 215).

INCIDENTAL Music, with symphonies and accompaniments for instruments, in partially compressed score, by Henry Purcell. Where the instruments employed, other than violins, are mentioned, they are indicated below.

1. "Œdipus" [1692]; consisting of nine bars of Prelude, "Hear, ye sullen Powrs" (solos and chorus), "Musick for a while" (alto solo), and "Come away; do not stay" (bass solo and chorus). ff. 2, 3, 3b.
2. The masque in "Timon of Athens" [1678]; with accompaniments for flutes, oboes, etc. The names of the singers, George, Jacob, and [Richard] Leveridge are added in pencil in a later hand. f. 5.
3. "Bonduca" [1695]: "Hear us, great great Rugwith" (solos and chorus), "Hear, yee Gods of Brittain" (bass recit.), "Sing, yee Druids" (duet and chorus), "Divine Andates" (tenor recit.), "To arms! your Ensigns strait display" (duet), "Britains, strik[e] home" (duet and chorus). ff. 13, 14, 14b, 16, 16b, 17.
4. "King Arthur" [1691]; with accompaniments for oboe, flutes, trumpets, etc. Other numbers given in Rim-bault's and Arkwright's editions are missing here, as well as the overture which commences the opera in Goodison's edition [1790?]. The order of the three numbers which follow the chorus, "Round thy coasts," is different from that of the printed editions. f. 18b.
5. "Circe" [1676?]: a Prelude of six bars, "We must assemble" (bass air and chorus), "The Aire with Musick gently wounds" (sic) (alto air and chorus), "Come, ev'ry Dæmon" (tenor air), "Circe, the daughter of y^e Sun" (chorus), "Lovers who" (treble recit.), "Great minister of Fate" (chorus), short dance of Magicians, and "Pluto, arise" (bass air). ff. 47, 48, 48b, 49, 49b, 50, 50b.
6. "Indian Queen" [1692]; with accompaniments for trumpets, flutes, kettle-drum, etc. It contains all the music published by Goodison [1790?], except the duet, "If so your goodness," and the instrumental music at the end, and has, in addition, the masque added by Daniel Purcell in 1696. ff. 51-64.
7. "The Libertine" [1676]; with accompaniments for trumpets, etc. It consists of "Nymphs and Sheperds" (treble air), followed by "We come, we come" (chorus), "In these delightfull pleasant groves" (chorus), "Prepare now, ghosts" (bass recit. with chorus), and "In mischeife they've all" (alto recit.), followed by "Let 'em come" (chorus). ff. 148, 148b, 149, 150, 151, 151b.

Additional 31520.

Paper; ff. 37. About 1704 (see fly-leaf). Oblong folio.

COLLECTION of airs and duets, with a figured bass for harpsichord and occasionally a part for a violin, in score; apparently from an Opera in which the characters are Tomiri, Artaserse, Oronte, etc. (see f. 20), probably "Tomiri, regina di Scitia," composed by Giovanni Battista Buononcini and performed in 1704.

Additional 22099, ff. 26-69b passim.

Paper; about 1704-1707 (see below). Folio. The MS. also contains Anthems, Hymns, sacred Songs, Catches, Duets, an Ode, secular Songs, Harpsichord Solos and String Trios; all described elsewhere.

FRAGMENTS of Incidental Music, mostly with a bass, in score; apparently in the hand of a musician named Clark (but not that of Jeremiah Clark), whose name is found on ff. 9, 55, and 90 at the end of pieces by other composers. The collection in which they appear was probably made soon after the publication of Francis Horton's Collection of songs by several masters, 1704, which contains many of the tunes.

“ANTIGONA”: Opera in 3 Acts, with overtures, symphonies and accompaniments for trumpets (divided in the overture into two “cori”), oboes and strings, with a bass (occasionally figured) for harpsichord, in score, by Giuseppe Maria Orlandini [1718]. Characters: Creonte (Cavaliere Nicolò Grimaldi), Antigona (Signora Antonia Merighi), Ceraste (Carlo Broschi), Osmene (Antonio Bernacchi), Evalco (Giambattista Minelli), Giocasta (Signora Teresa Cotti) and Ormino (Francesco Costanzi).

Additional 14171.

Paper; ff. 215. About 1719. Oblong folio.

“ARTILIO Regolo . . . Opera 112—Del Cavalier Alessandro Scarlatti. In Roma, 1719”: Opera in 3 Acts, with symphonies and accompaniments for trumpets, oboes, horns and strings, and a figured bass for harpsichord, in score. Characters: Fausta, Amilcare, Santippo, Eraclea, Leonzio, Emilia, Attilio and Eurilla.

Additional 24305.

Paper; ff. 92. About 1719. Folio. Belonged to Charles Hatchett.

THE PRINCIPAL arias, and one quartet, in the Operas “Lucio Vero” [1719] and “Sesostri” [1710], by Francesco Gasparini, in score. The instruments employed in the accompaniments, etc., to the former opera are a mandola (sc. cithern), trumpets, flutes, and strings, with a bass, occasionally figured, for harpsichord. Characters: Lucio Vero, Aniceto, Berenice, and Vologeso. The instruments in "Sesostri" are not named, nor are the characters. The selections from this opera are interspersed with those from "Lucio Vero."

On f. 52b is the note "Aliberti [probably Giuseppe Matteo Alberti, of Bologna] Op^a P^a [Bologna, 1713], 1719"; from which, coupled with the fact that "Sesostri" was performed there in 1719, it may be conjectured that this transcript was made in that year, when both works were probably given at Bologna.

Additional 14120, ff. 1-154.

Paper; A.D. 1720. Oblong folio. The MS. also contains a Cantata (above, p. 15).

"ANGELICA [e Medoro]": described by Fétis as an "Azione teatrale"; in two parts, with symphonies and accompaniments for oboes (short and long), trombe da caccia, and bassoons, and a figured bass for harpsichord, in score. [By N. A. Porpora.] Part i was begun on 7 August, and Part ii (f. 74) on 19 August, 1720. The words are by Metastasio, as are also those of the Licenza or Epilogue (f. 149), addressed to [the Empress] Elisa[beth Christina], who was married in 1708. The names of the singers must refer to a later performance. They are Signora Marianna, [Gioacchino Conti, detto] Gizziello (b. 1714), [Carlo] Brosco [al. Broschi, detto Farinelli], [La] Rom[agnin]a, and [La] March[esi]na [probably the Maria Antonia Marchesini detta La Lucchesina, mentioned by Burney as singing in London in 1737-1739].

Additional 14118.

Paper; ff. 108. A.D. 1721. Oblong folio.

"GL' ORTI Esperidi": described by Fétis as an "Azione teatrale"; in two parts, with symphonies and accompaniments for trombe da caccia, oboes, bassoons, and strings, and a figured bass for harpsichord, in score. [By N. A. Porpora.] Finished 22 August, 1721. Autograph. Characters: Adone, Venere, Marte, Egle, and Pallade.

Additional 14168.

Paper; ff. 128. A.D. 1721. Oblong folio.

"GRISELDA, opera 114, Posta in Musica Dal Cau^e Alessandro Scarlatti per sua Eccellenza Sig^e Principe Ruspoli. In Roma, Xbre 1720 e Genn^o 1721": Opera in 3 Acts, with symphonies and accompaniments for trumpets, horns, flutes, oboes, and strings, and a figured bass for harpsichord, in score. Autograph. Characters: Gualtiero, Griselda, Ottone, Corrado, Roberto, Costanza, etc.

Additional 31502, ff. 104-107b.

Paper; about 1721 (?). Narrow oblong octavo. See also below, under Songs.

"SE MI condanni": song of two verses for a soprano voice, with a figured bass for harpsichord in score, by Bernardo Pasquini. From the ritournelle for 3 instruments which follows it in Harley MS. 1273, f. 21b (above, p. 233), it would appear to be taken from an Opera.

Additional 14232.

Paper; ff. 150. About 1723. Oblong folio.

“PARTENOPE”: Opera in 3 Acts, with symphonies and accompaniments for oboes and strings, and occasionally trumpets and drums, in score, by Leonardo Vinci (?). The signature on f. 2 is not easily legible, but the date of this composer’s “Partenope” (1723) appears to suit the present MS., and no one else whose signature at all resembles the above is known to have written an opera of this name. Autograph. Characters: Partenope, Arsace, Armindo, Rosmira, Ormonte, and Emilio.

Additional 25484.

Paper; ff. 131. A.D. 1723. Folio. Belonged to Granville Sharpe and Alfred Roffe (before 1863).

“THE FOUR Chorus’s in the Tragedy of ‘Julius Cæsar,’ written by . . . John Sheffield, Late [1st] Duke of Buckinghamshire, &c. Set to Musick by J. Ernest Galliard. 1723.” Autograph. The symphonies and accompaniments are for flutes, oboes, and strings, with a figured bass for harpsichord.

Paper; ff. 163. A.D. 1700-1725. Oblong folio.

["PORSENNA"] : Opera in 3 Acts, with instrumental symphonies and accompaniments (apparently strings only), in score. According to the original fly-leaf, it was attributed to Scarlatti or Lotti. It is therefore in all probability the opera of that name assigned by Clément and Larousse (Dictionnaire Lyrique, p. 539) to Antonio Lotti, 1712, for which Alessandro Scarlatti wrote some additional numbers at its performance in Naples in 1713. Characters : Publicola, Oratio, Porsenna, Publio, Mutio, Floro, Elisa, Ismeno, Valeria, Vitellia, Tarquinio, Porfiria, and Milone.

Additional 31606.

Paper; ff. 122. About 1725. Oblong folio.

"ELPIDIA" : Opera in 3 Acts, with symphonies and accompaniments for oboes, trumpets, and strings, in score, by Leonardo da Vinci. [Composed in 1723 (?). Performed in London, 11 May, 1725. In the hand of John Christopher Smith. There are gaps before ff. 3, 44. From the libretto published in London at the time of the performance, it appears that several of the airs given here were cancelled. Characters : Ormonte, Olindo, Elpidia, Vitige, Rosmilda, and Belisario.

Paper; ff. 38. About 1729. Oblong folio.

INTRODUCTORY symphony and solos in “Onorio,” Opera in 3 Acts, by Francesco Ciampi, performed at the San Giovanni Grisostomo theatre [Venice, 1729]. The instruments employed in the accompaniments, etc., are oboes and strings, with a bass occasionally figured for harpsichord. In score. Characters mentioned: Fermanzia, Stilicone, Eucherio, and Placidia.

Additional 22105.

Paper; ff. 122. About 1730. Oblong folio.

“L' ANDROMACCA”: Opera in 3 Acts, with symphonies and accompaniments for horns, oboes, strings, and harpsichord, in score, by Francesco Feo, written for the Teatro della Valle [at Rome], in 1730. The recitativi secchi are omitted.

Additional 24303.

Paper; ff. 143. About 1730. Oblong folio. The MS. appears to have belonged successively to [Charles James Stuart] the [Young] Pretender, [Thomas] Greatorex, T. O[liphant], 1832, and Dr. H. Gauntlett.

“ANDROMACCA.” Another copy, with the recitativi secchi, and with the names of the characters: Telemac[c]o, Astianatte, Andromac[c]a, Ermione, Pirro and Ulisse.

Additional 22106.

Paper; ff. 182. About 1730. Oblong folio. Bookplate of Earl Cowper.

“ARTASERSE”: Opera in 3 Acts, with symphonies and accompaniments for trumpets, horns, oboes, and strings, in score, composed by Leonardo Vinci, for the Alle Dame theatre at Rome, 1730. The recitativi secchi are omitted. The only singer named is Carestina.

Additional 31551.

Paper; ff. 150. About 1730. Oblong folio.

“ORMISDA”: Opera in 3 Acts, with symphonies and accompaniments for trumpets, bassoons, and strings, and a figured bass for harpsichord, in score, [composed in 1730] by [Francesco] Conti. See note by Victor Schoelcher on f. 1, and Catalogue of Additions for 1876–1881, p. 207. The two overtures and the final chorus are arranged for harpsichord. Characters: Ormisda, Palmira, Artenice, Cosroe, Arsace, and Erismeno.

The Opera appears to have been arranged for performance by Handel, the present copy being evidently in the hand of J. Christopher Smith, his amanuensis.

Additional 31607.

Paper; ff. 151. About 1730. Oblong folio.

“LA DIDONE [abbandonata]”: Opera in 3 Acts, with symphonies and accompaniments for horns, oboes, trumpets, and strings, and a bass, occasionally figured for harpsichord, in score, by Leonardo Vinci [1730.] In the hand of John Christopher Smith, with a few autograph alterations and corrections by Handel (ff. 82, 97b, and 145), as certified by Victor Schoelcher, who describes the work on f. 1 as “Pasticcio donné par Handel le 18 Avril 1727,” though he does not allude to it in his Life of the latter composer. There are also notes on f. 1 in the hand of Dr. Samuel Arnold, at whose death, in 1803, the MS. was acquired by W. Russell. Characters: Enea, Selene, Osmida, Didone, Iarba, and Araspe.

Additional 32582.

Paper; ff. 185. About 1730. Oblong folio. Belonged to Dr. William Crotch in 1811.

Paper; ff. 188. After 1739 (see f. 31). Oblong octavo. From the collection of F. Smeek.

COLLECTION of airs, duets, choruses (frequently with one of the parts omitted), etc., from dramatic works by French composers of the end of the 17th and the first half of the 18th centuries. Only the vocal parts are given, which, in the case of the concerted numbers, are in score, but without accompaniment. The selections are mostly divided into two series, the second (f. 107) supplying deficiencies in the first.

1. Eighteen scenes or numbers from "Isis" [1677]. By Jean Baptiste Lully. Differing considerably from the copy of "Isis" in Add. 16045 (above, p. 237). ff. 1-25, 107-116.
2. "Goutons bien les plaisirs" (à 2), "Dans ces deserts paisibles" (solo), and "Les oiseaux vivent sans contrainte" (à 2); from the "Grotte de Versaille" (sc. "L'Eglogue de Versailles"). By the same. [1685.] ff. 25b, 116, 116b.
3. Sixteen numbers or scenes from "Phaëton." By the same. [1683.] ff. 26b-30b, 117b-128b.
4. Ten "Airs des 'Festes d'Hébé' ou 'les Talens Liriques.'" By Jean Philippe Rameau. [1739.] ff. 31-36, 129-131b.
5. Seven "Airs D' 'Acis et Galatée.'" By Lulli. [1686.] ff. 36b-39, 132-136.
6. Eighteen airs from "Issé." By André Cardinal Destouches. [1697.] ff. 39b-57b, 136-144.
7. Twelve airs from "Tancredi." By André Campra. [1702.] ff. 58-65b, 144b-149.
8. Four airs, "Par d'innocens plaisirs," "Amants heureux," "Dans les Concerts," and "Dans L'horreur d'une nuit terrible"; from "Iphigénie [en Tauride]." By the same and Henri Desmarests. [1704.] ff. 66, 66b, 149b, 150.
9. "Ten numbers or scenes from "Idoméné[e]." By Campra. [1712.] ff. 67-72, 105b (?—an air, "Gloire brillante"). 150b-152b, 183-184b.
10. Nine numbers from "Hippolyte et Aricie." By Rameau. [1733.] ff. 72b-76b, 152b-161.
11. Two airs, "A L'amour offrez tous vos vœux" and "Enchantez mes Regards"; from the Ballet "[Le triomphe] des Sens." "[Joseph] Mouret." [1732 (?).] ff. 77, 77b.
12. Four airs, "L'onde se presse," "Jeunes cœurs," "Le heros que j'attends," and "C'est la saison d'aimer"; from "Alceste." By Lully. [1674.] ff. 78b, 79, 162, 163b.
13. "Air, "Revenez, amours, and three duets or 2-part choruses, "L'amour plaist," "Les plus rudes chaisnes," and "Que nos prairies seront fleuries." [From "Thésée," 1675.] By the same. ff. 79, 81, 81b, 164.
14. Twenty numbers or scenes from "Atis." By the same. [1676.] ff. 82-89, 166-177.
15. Eighteen "Airs d' 'Armide [et Renaud]." By the same. [1686.] ff. 89b-105, 177-182b.
16. Air, "Ma chere Liberté"; from "Proserpine." By the same. [1680.] f. 161.

Additional 14119.

Paper; ff. 97. About 1740. Oblong folio.

"DIDONE": Acts ii and iii, with symphonies and accompaniments for oboes, trumpets, and strings, and a figured bass for harpsichord, in score. [By Porpora, about 1740.] Autograph. Characters: Iarba, Araspe, Selene, Didone, Osmida, and Enea.

King's 330–337, passim.

Paper; after 1749. Quarto.

NUMBERS from Operas, without accompaniment; taken from a collection of scurrilous political songs, arranged in chronological order. They all appear in Egerton 814–817 (above, p. 272), and the detailed catalogue of them is not repeated here. The initial words and the names of the tunes are given in the Index.

Additional 14167.

Paper; ff. 104. First half of 18th cent. Oblong folio.

“LA ROSAURA: melodrama” in 3 Acts, with instrumental symphonies and accompaniments, in score, by Alessandro Scarlatti [about 1690]. The present MS. wants the introductory symphony and prologue as well as the scene with which Add. 31513 (above, p. 245) ends; on the other hand, it includes several recitatives and arias which do not appear in the other copy.

Additional 14169.

Paper; ff. 149. First half of the 18th cent. Oblong folio.

"L' AMOR Generoso": Opera in 3 Acts, with symphonies and accompaniments for oboes and strings, and a figured bass for harpsichord, in score, by Alessandro Scarlatti [1714]. Characters: Aminta, Niso, Emirena, Despina, Berenice, [Un] Prete, Arbante, and Idaspe.

Additional 14180, ff. 7-196b.

Paper; first half of 18th cent. Oblong folio. See also below, under Songs (1745).

COLLECTION of vocal pieces, apparently all taken from Operas, with symphonies and accompaniments for strings, and occasionally wind instruments, where indicated below, in score, by Johann Adolf Hasse. Unless the contrary is stated, they are for a single voice.

"SPLENDA per uoi sereno": aria, with symphonies and accompaniments for strings, in score [from "Adriano in Siria," 1734], by Pergolesi.

Additional 14231.

Paper, ff. 56; first half of 18th cent. Oblong folio.

ARIAS and a duet, with symphonies and accompaniments for strings, and occasionally also trumpets, or with lute and violoncello obbligati, in score, from an anonymous Opera, in which two of the characters are Arbace and Ciro. It was perhaps called "Ciro," but is identical with neither of Metastasio's plays, "Ciro riconosciuto" or "Ciro in Babilonia."

Additional 14235.

Paper; ff. 83. First half of the 18th cent. Oblong folio.

PORTIONS of two anonymous dramatic works, with symphonies and accompaniments for strings and a bass (occasionally figured) for harpsichord, in score.

Paper; ff. 64. First half of the 18th cent. Oblong folio.

ACT III of an Opera, in which the principal characters are Lucio [Virginio], Virginia, Appio [Claudio], Icilio, Flacco, Valeria, Servilia and Claudia—probably "La caduta de' decemviri," composed by Leonardo Vinci, and performed at Naples in 1727, with comic scenes (see the intermezzo near the end). The instruments employed in the orchestra are horns, oboes (obue lunghi) and strings. In score. The initials "F. T. F." (?) at the end are probably those of the copyist.

Additional 16102.

Paper; ff. 137. First half of 18th cent. Oblong folio.

"L'ADRIANO in Siria": Opera in 3 Acts, with overture, symphonies, and accompaniments for strings, and occasionally oboes and horns also, in score, by Giovanni Battista Pergolesi [1734]; the words by Metastasio. A double orchestra is employed in Act ii, scene 2. Characters: Adriano, Aquilio, Farnaspe, Osroa, Emirena and Sabina.

Additional 16103-16105.

Paper; ff. 79, 89, 76. First half of 18th cent. Oblong folio.

"LO FRATO [i]nnammorato": Opera buffa in 3 Acts, in the Neapolitan dialect, with symphonies and accompaniments for flutes and strings, in score, by Giovanni Battista Pergolesi [1732]. Characters: Vannella, Cardella, Don Pietro, Carlo, Nina, Nena, Luggrezza, Marcaniello and Ascanio.

Additional 16106.

Paper; ff. 99. First half of 18th cent. Oblong folio.

INTERMEZZOS, each divided into two other intermezzos, with symphonies and accompaniments for oboes, horns, bassoons (in no. 1) and strings, in score, by Giovanni Battista Pergolesi. In the same hand as Add. 16102, above, p. 279.

Additional 16123-16125.

Paper; ff. 144, 150, 145. First half of the 18th cent. Oblong quarto.

"S[ANTA] GENUINDA": Pasticcio in 3 Acts, with ritornellos and accompaniments for strings and a figured bass for harpsichord, in score. Act i was written at Rome by Giovanni del Violone; Act ii at Naples by Alessandro Scarlatti; and Act iii at Venice by Carlo Francesco Pollaroli. Characters: Zelone (with a band of followers, who sing a few bars of chorus), Gilbo, Sifrido, Argene, Genuinda, Rosalba, Celia, and L' Innocenza, who is introduced by way of epilogue.

Additional 16150-16152.

Paper; ff. 157, 138, 114. First half of the 18th cent. Oblong quarto. On the cover are the arms of Cardinal Pietro Ottoboni (d. 1740).

"GLI AMAZZONI": Opera in 3 Acts, for solo voices, with symphonies and accompaniments for strings, etc. (trumpets in the epilogue), in score. The first two Acts are followed by Intermezzos, the second of which is called "La Noce di Benevento," and at the end is a sort of epilogue sung by La Fama. From allusions in the latter (as well as in the prologue) to a Spanish royal couple of the names of Carlo and Marianna, the Opera would appear to have been written for the marriage of Charles II of Spain with Marianna, daughter of Philip Wilhelm, Elector-Palatine of Neuburg, 1690. In the same hand as Add. 16123-16125, above. Characters: Mitilene, Atlante, Aleide, Affrica, America, Asia, and Europa (in the prologue); Artide, Turpino, Arconte, Tisbe, Licandro, Mandane, Mitilene, Idaspe, etc.

Additional 16153.

Paper; ff. 305. First half of the 18th cent. Oblong quarto. On the cover are the arms of Cardinal Pietro Ottoboni.

"COLOMBO": Opera in 3 Acts, with symphonies and accompaniments for strings and a figured bass for harpsichord, in score. Anonymous. In the same hand as the three preceding MSS. Characters: Colombo, Anarda, Fernando, Fortuna, 3 Sirens, Ginacra, Tendilla, Guascarra, Giumbè and Gelima.

Additional 22103.

Paper; ff. 276. First half of the 18th century. Oblong folio.

"LA STATIRA": Opera in 3 Acts, with symphonies and accompaniments for trumpets, strings and a figured bass for harpsichord, in score, by Alessandro Scarlatti; the words by Cardinal [Pietro] Ottoboni. Characters: Oronte, Alessandro, Statira, Demetrio, Perinto, Campaspe, and Apelle.

Additional 27932, passim.

Paper; first half of 18th cent., etc. Octavo. The MS. also contains Hymns (vol. i, p. 184), an air from an Oratorio (ib. p. 369), Songs, Dance Music, etc. The binding, of tooled leather with the royal arms, dates from the early part of the 17th cent.

ARIAS, etc., with a figured bass for harpsichord (except where the contrary is stated), in score.

"THE REVENGE": burletta in 2 Acts, written by Thomas Chatterton and in his hand. Published in 1795. Words only. At the end is Chatterton's receipt, 6 July, 1770, for five guineas for the copyright from Luffman Atterbury, who evidently set the work to music, the names of the singers being given at the beginning. The part of Jupiter was taken by [Charles Frederic] Reinbold, that of Bacchus by [Charles] Bannister, and that of Cupid by Master Cheney; the singer of Juno's part is not named.

“L'OLIMPIADE”: a pasticcio in 3 Acts, with symphonies and accompaniments for flutes, oboes, horns, strings, and cymbals, in score (with the exception of the overture, of which only the bass part is given). The names of the composers, with the dates (in square brackets) in which they produced an Opera of the above title, are Tommaso Traetta [St. Petersburg, 1770], ff. 26, 149; [G. B.] Lampugnani [1765?], f. 48; [G. Calisto] Zannotti, f. 66; [J. Christoph] Wagenseil [1749], f. 87; “Floriano Leopoldo Ghusman,” sc. Gassmann [1764], f. 117; and [Baldassare] Galuppi [1749], f. 132. From the above dates, it seems hardly likely that the pasticcio was the one (dated 1755) referred to in Burney's History of Music (vol. iv, p. 466), as “chiefly by Galuppi”; more probably it is that mentioned by Riemann in his Opern-Handbuch as arranged by Francesco Puttini at Cremona in 1768. Characters: Licida, Aminta, Megacle, Aristeia, Argene, Clistene, Alcandro.

INCIDENTAL music by Henry Purcell, in score. The first three numbers are transcribed by J. Paul Hobler.

1. "King Arthur" [1691]; with overture and accompaniments for trumpets, oboes, and strings. The introduction to Act ii, the hornpipes at the end of Acts ii and iii, the symphony ("Britannia rises") in Act v, the concluding Grand dance, and the overture (taken from Goodison's edition), all of which appear in G. Arkwright's edition, are wanting here. Other numbers missing (which do not appear in Arkwright's edition) are indicated on ff. 44 and 61. ff. 3-82b.
2. "The Indian Queen" [1692]; with overture and accompaniments for trumpets, oboes, strings and kettle-drums. This copy contains all the airs printed by Goodison (about 1790), but not the instrumental music at the end of that edition. ff. 83-114b.
3. "Libertine" [1676]; part of Act iv (as in Add. 31447, f. 148, above, p. 246). ff. 115-121.
4. "Circe," beg. "We must assemble by a sacrifice": being the music in the 1st Act of the tragedy of that name produced by John Banister in 1676 (cf. Add. 31447, f. 47), with a prelude and accompaniments for strings, in score. "Copied from a MS. in the hands of John Hindle, M.B. (part of the collection of the late Thomas Bever, LL.D.) by Edward Woodley Smith, of the choirs of St. Paul's, Windsor, etc., Aug^t, 1796." ff. 168-184.

ROMANCE (Armidoro), beginning "Ihr guten lieben Leute, hört"; with pianoforte accompaniment, in score. From "Die Zauberzither," generally known as "Kasper, der Fagottist," by Wenzel Müller [1791].

Additional 16027, 16028.

Paper; ff. 181, 167. About 1792 (?). Oblong folio.

"RITTER Roland": Opera in 3 Acts, in score, by Franz Joseph Haydn, translated into German, probably for the performance at Vienna in January, 1792, from "Orlando Paladino" [1782]. In the present copy the recitativi secchi are omitted, but some passages wanting in the original (Add. 32172) are here supplied, including the part of Caronte. The arias on ff. 48b-78 of the original are inserted later on in the present MS. For a further account of the work, see above, p. 305.

Additional 31736, 31737.

Paper; ff. 248, 212. About 1792. Oblong folio.

"IL MATRIMONIO Segreto": Opera buffa in 2 Acts, with symphonies and accompaniments for horns, trumpets, flutes, oboes, clarinets, bassoons, and strings, and a figured bass for harpsichord or pianoforte, in score, by Domenico Cimarosa [1792]. Characters: Fidalma, Paulino, Don Geronimo, Carolina, Elisetta, and il Conte.

Additional 15988, 15989.

Paper; ff. 159, 146. About 1793. Oblong quarto.

"IL CHINESE (sic) in Italia": described as "Dramma Giocoso," in 2 Acts; with symphonies and accompaniments for oboes, horns, bassoons, and strings, and a figured bass for harpsichord, in score. By Francesco Bianchi. Performed at the San Moise Theatre, Venice, in 1793. Characters: Siventi, Cecchina, Giacchino, Camchincam, Giannotto, Melidora, and Stropiatesti.

Additional 15990.

Paper; ff. 248. About 1793, etc. Oblong quarto.

"La Vendetta di Nino' o sia 'La Semiramide": Opera in 2 (?) Acts, with symphonies and accompaniments for flutes, oboes, clarinets, trumpets, horns, bassoons, and strings, in score, by Francesco Bianchi [1793]. Imperfect at the end. The title-rôle was taken by [Giorgi Brigida] Banti (see f. 53). Characters: Semiramide, Mitrane, Oroe, Seleuco, Azema, and Arsace, with a Chorus (for 4 voices). Acting copy.

Included also (ff. 225, 232, 235b) are some duets, beg. "Cara, nel tuo sembiante," "Coraggio, anima mia," and "Deh, se m' ami"; from "Iside" (probably "La Festa d' Iside" or "Sesostri," by Giuseppe Mosca, 1803). The instruments employed are the same as above, with the exception of the trumpets. Characters: Sesostri, Azema, and Atamaro.

Additional 16003, 16004.

Paper; ff. 253, 244. About 1793. Oblong quarto.

"IL MATRIMONIO Segreto," by Cimarosa, in score. Apparently the second version (1793); the earlier (1792) being probably that contained in Add. 31736 and 31737 (above). The instruments employed are the same, with the addition of drums. Copied by, or for, Carlo Carpanin, of Venice.

Paper; ff. 124. 18th cent. Oblong folio. Bookplate, with arms, of Robert Smith.

"OPERA I^a ['Cefalo e Procride']. Rapresentata nel Teatro di Litzenbourg Del Sr Giou. [Battista] Bononcini": a one-act Opera, with symphonies and accompaniments for flutes, oboes, and strings, and a figured bass for harpsichord, in score. Characters: Aurora, Cefalo, Procride, Atenice, Titone, and Zeffiro.

Additional 31542.

Paper; ff. 219. 18th cent. Oblong folio.

“IL TRIONFO di Camilla”: Opera attributed to Giovanni [Battista] Buononcini, but more probably by M. A. Buononcini [1697?]. See the description of Add. 14185, a rather earlier copy, above, p. 240.

Additional 31543.

Paper; ff. 110. 18th cent. Oblong folio. Belonged to J. S[tafford] Smith, in 1787.

“TURNO Aricino: Drama Per Musica. Poesia del Sig^r Silvio Stampiglio. Musica del Sig^r Giouⁱ [Battista] Bononcini [about 1710].” In 3 Acts, with symphonies and accompaniments for oboes, chalumeaux, flutes, bassoons, and strings (including viol d’amore), and a figured bass for harpsichord, in score. The Opera is ascribed by Clément and Larousse to M. A. Buononcini (see Catalogue of Additions). Characters as above, p. 241.

Additional 31544.

Paper; ff. 61. 18th cent. Oblong folio. Belonged to Joseph Warren.

AIRS and duets from “L’Erminia”: opera, with symphonies and accompaniments for strings and a figured bass for harpsichord, in score. By [G. B.] Buononcini [1723].

Paper; ff. 112. 18th cent. Oblong folio. Bookplate of Edward Stephenson, of Farley Hill.

“RADAMISTE”: Opera in 3 Acts, with overture, symphonies, and accompaniments for flutes, oboes, trumpets, horns, bassoons, strings, and harpsichord, in score, by Handel, 1720. The present MS. is in the hand of his amanuensis, John Christopher Smith, and corresponds with the edition published by the Händel-Gesellschaft, except that all the recitatives are omitted and one short symphony. For a further account of the work, see the Catalogue of Additions. Characters: Polissena, Tiridate, Zenobia, Radamisto, Farasmane, Fraarte, and Tigiane.

Additional 31565.

Paper; ff. 132. 18th cent. Oblong folio.

“ORLANDO”: Opera in 3 Acts, with overture, symphonies, and accompaniments for flutes, oboes, horns, bassoons, and strings (including “violette marine,” sc. viole d’amore), and a figured bass for harpsichord, in score, by Handel, 1733 [composed in 1732]. The handwriting very much resembles that of John Christopher Smith, Handel’s amanuensis. Characters: Zoroastro, Orlando, Dorinda, Angelica, and Medoro.

Additional 31566.

Paper; ff. 55. 18th cent. Folio.

"ALCINA": Opera in 3 Acts, with overture, symphonies, and accompaniments for flutes, oboes, strings, etc., and a figured bass for harpsichord, in score, by Handel [1735]; preceded by a table of contents [in the hand of Michael Rophino Lacy]. From the absence of the ballets throughout the opera, it is probably the version used at the repetition of the work in 1736. (See edition published by the Händel-Gesellschaft, vol. 86.) Characters: Bradamante, Melisso, Morgana, Alcina, Ruggiero, Oberto, and Oronte.

Additional 31569.

Paper; ff. 132. 18th cent. Oblong folio.

"ALESSANDRO Severo": Pasticcio in 3 Acts, with overture, symphonies, and accompaniments for horns, oboes, flutes, bassoons, and strings, and a figured bass for harpsichord, in score. [By Handel, 1738.] Arranged from earlier works of the composer's, with a new overture. Characters, as in Add. 16143 (above, p. 332).

Additional 31571.

Paper; ff. 135. 18th cent. Quarto. Belonged to Thomas Field, organist of Bath, in 1803.

TRANSCRIPTS made by John Christopher Smith from Operas by Handel, in score. Unless the contrary is stated, they are arias. The symphonies and accompaniments are generally for violins or mixed strings, with the occasional addition of oboes (which are, however, only once named—in no. 1). "H.G." in the following descriptions refers to the Händel-Gesellschaft's edition of the operas in question.

SELECTIONS, with accompaniments, in score, from an Opera at the beginning of which are written the words "Ruggiero amorodo" (sc. "Ruggiero amoroso"), to which has been added in pencil "del Sig^r Hasse," but on what authority it does not appear, as the work is evidently different from Hasse's Opera of that name (see Add. 16025). Unless the contrary is stated, they are arias preceded by recitatives, with a figured bass, interspersed among which are a few ritournelles for strings, which instruments are also used in nos. 1 and 2. Characters: Ruggiero, Balduino, Riccardo, Rosalia, Fau... (?).

1. "Ottone" [1722], in 3 Acts, with overture, symphonies, and accompaniments for oboes, flutes, bassoons, and strings, and a figured bass for harpsichord. The overture wants the second movement and is arranged as described in the introduction to the edition of this opera by the Händel-Gesellschaft, to whom however the present MS. was evidently unknown. The principal other variations from that edition—besides the omission of a considerable number of recitatives and some half dozen airs—are the removal of the short sinfonia in Act i, scene 1, to the beginning of Act ii; the substitution of another recitative for the one which commences Act ii, scene 4; and the addition of the music to the recitative "Del gran sasso," before the aria "Le profonde vie" in Act ii. f. 2b.
2. "Il confine della vita": aria with symphony and accompaniment for strings, from Act iii of the pasticcio "Mutius Scævola," sc. "Muzio" [1721]. f. 42.

Paper; ff. 112. Late 18th cent. Oblong folio.

"COMPONIMENTO Drammatico che introduce ad un ballo Cinese"; with symphonies and accompaniments for flutes, horns, oboes, and strings, and a figured bass for harpsichord, in score. Anonymous. Possibly autograph (see end). Characters: Lisinga,* Sivene, and Tangia.

Additional 15981, 15982.

Paper; ff. 240, 149. Late 18th cent. Oblong quarto.

"L'AVARO": Opera in 3 Acts, with symphonies and accompaniments for trumpets, flutes, horns, oboes, and strings, in score, by Pasquale Anfossi [1776]. Two copies, in different hands, of which the first (15981) is complete and was apparently written at Naples (see f. 1); the other copy (15982), containing Acts ii and iii, is stamped with the name of Naldi [?Giuseppe Naldi, the actor]. Characters: Rosalinda, Tortora, Felicino, Stefanello, Orgasmo, Laurina, and Macobrio.

* Ercole Paganini produced an Opera called "Lisinga" at Florence, in 1808.

Additional 16000.

Paper; ff. 256. Late 18th cent. Oblong quarto.

"L'OLIMPIADE": Drama in 2 Acts, with symphonies and accompaniments for horns, trumpets, oboes, bassoons, and strings, in score, by Domenico Cimarosa [1781 or 1784]. Copied for Bonoris-Zappi, Bologna. Characters as above, p. 285.

Additional 16020.

Paper; ff. 337. Late 18th cent. Oblong quarto. Belonged to Gaetano Marinelli (see f. 216).

"TOMIRI": Opera in 2 Acts, by Pietro Guglielmi. It is preceded (ff. 1-14) by the overture to Cimarosa's "Li Orazj e Curiazj." The instrumental portions of both operas are written for oboes, clarinets, flutes, horns, trumpets, bassoons, harps (in no. 2), and strings, in score. The greater part of the present transcript was made by, or for, Carlo Carpanin of Venice (see f. 2); but part of Act ii appears to be autograph. Characters: Tomiri, Aspasia, Zoaspe, Toante, Ciro, Cambise, and Arbace.

Additional 16022.

Paper; ff. 209. Late 18th cent. Oblong quarto.

"LA SCIelta (sic) dello sposo": Farce by Pietro Carlo Guglielmi, with symphonies and accompaniments for flutes, oboes, clarinets, horns, bassoons, and strings, and a figured bass for harpsichord, in score. Possibly founded on the 2-act Opera, "La scelta d' uno sposo," which is said to have been brought out at Venice in 1775 by Pietro Guglielmi, sen. Characters: Pistone, Orlando, Dejanira, Lauretta, Ernesto, and Alberto.

Additional 16051, 16052.

Paper; ff. 208, 165. Late 18th cent. Oblong folio.

"ASCANIO in Alba": Opera in 2 Acts, with symphonies and accompaniments for trombe lunghe, drums, horns, oboes, flutes, bassoons, and strings, in score, by Mozart [1771]. Characters: Ascanio, Venere, a Faun, Aceste, and Silvia, with Choruses of Genii, Graces, Nymphs, Shepherds, etc.

Additional 16053, 16054.

Paper; ff. 167, 180. Late 18th cent. Oblong folio.

"LA CLEMENZA di Titto" (sic): Musical Drama in 2 Acts, written for performance at the National Theatre, Prague, 1791, on the coronation day [Sept. 6] of the Emperor Leopold II, by Mozart, "maestro di Capella in attuale Servizio di sua Maestà Imperiale." With overture, symphonies, and accompaniments for flutes, oboes, clarinets, bassoons, horns, basset-horns, trumpets (clarini), drums, and strings, in score.

Some of the wind instruments are in separate scores at the end of the numbers to which they belong. German words are given occasionally in addition to the Italian. Characters: Vitellia, Sesto, Anno, Publio, Tito, and Servilia.

Additional 16055, 16056.

Paper; ff. 322, 225. Late 18th cent. Oblong folio.

“‘LE NOZZE di Figaro’ o sia ‘La Folle (sic) giornata’: Comedia per Musica tiratta (sic) dal Francese in quattro Atti”; with symphonies and accompaniments for flutes, oboes, clarinets, horns, trumpets (trombe and clarini), drums, and strings, in score—the wind instruments generally in separate score—by Mozart [1786]. A German version has been written in a different hand above the Italian in most of the numbers. Characters: Susanna, Figaro, Bartolo, Marcellina, Cherubino, Il Conte, Basilio, La Contessa, Don Curzio, and Barbarina.

Additional 16057.

Paper; ff. 262. Late 18th cent. Oblong folio.

“LUCCIO (sic) Silla, Musica Del Sig^{re} Cavaliere Amadeo Wolfango Mozart, Il Carnovale Dell’ Anno 1773, Milano”; in 3 Acts, with symphonies and accompaniments for flutes, oboes, horns, trombe lunghe, drums, bassoons, and strings, in score. The recitativi secchi are omitted. Characters: Cecilio, Lucio Silla, Giunia, Cinna, etc.

Additional 16058.

Paper; ff. 257. Late 18th cent. Oblong octavo.

“MITRIDATE, Rè di Ponto”: Opera in 3 Acts, with overture, symphonies, and accompaniments for horns, oboes, flutes, bassoons, and strings, in score, by Mozart [1770]. The recitativi secchi are omitted; a short gap after f. 162 is indicated by a blank leaf. Characters: Aspasia, Sifare (sic), Farnace, Mitridate, and Ismene.

Additional 16059–16061.

Paper; ff. 165, 123, 165. Late 18th cent. Oblong folio.

“IDOMENEO”: Musical Drama in 3 Acts, with overture, symphonies, and accompaniments for flutes (including piccolo), oboes, clarinets, horns, trumpets, drums, bassoons, and strings, with a figured bass for harpsichord, in score, by Mozart [1781]. Characters: Ilia, Idamante, Elettra, Idomeneo, and Arbace, with numerous Choruses of Cretans, etc.

Additional 16062.

Paper; ff. 237. Late 18th cent. Oblong folio.

“IL MEDICO di Lucca”: Musical Farce, with symphonies and accompaniments for oboes, clarinets, horns, bassoons, drums, and strings, in score, by Sebastiano Nasolini [1792]. Characters: Barberina, Agatina, Girardino, Il Dottore Scorticario, Luciano, Signor Geronimo, and Madama Ernestina.

Additional 16063.

Paper; ff. 158. Late 18th cent. Oblong folio.

"MEROPE": Opera in 3 Acts, by [Sebastiano] Nasolini [1795]. Imperfect copy. It appears to have been altered into a (quasi) pianoforte score for the use of the conductor; but the figured basses have been retained in several numbers, and instrumental parts, such as clarinets, horns, oboes, bassoons, and strings, have been written in occasionally. A duet, "Tu favor," has been added, in full score, at f. 141, followed by some recitativi secchi from Act i. The whole is in an English hand. The overture and several of the arias have been omitted, and there are gaps after ff. 101 and 108. Characters: Polifonte, Timante, Adrasto, Nearco, Merope, Polidoro, Ismene, and Euriso.

Additional 16064.

Paper; ff. 264. Late 18th cent., etc. Oblong folio.

"LA MORTE di Mitridate": Opera in 2 Acts, with symphonies, and accompaniments for oboes, clarinets, trumpets, horns, bassoons, and strings, and a figured bass for harpsichord or pianoforte, in score, by Sebastiano Nasolini [1709]. Some missing portions have been supplied in an English hand (compare Add. 16063), possibly that of T. W. S[enio]r (see f. 217). The aria (Eraclide) with chorus (f. 200), beg. "Sul mio capo," is evidently interpolated from another Opera. The scena and duet (f. 165), beg. "Il tuo destino," is from the Opera of the same name by [Marco] Portugallo, which was performed in London in 1807. Characters: Zifare (apparently sung by Giuseppe Viganoni, see f. 124), Arbace, Vonima (A. Catalani), Mitridate (Giuseppe Siboni), Zelima, Farnace, and Fedina.

Additional 16075.

Paper; ff. 29b. Late 18th cent. Oblong folio.

"GLI SCHIAVI per amore": Opera Buffa in 2 Acts, with symphonies and accompaniments for horns, flutes, oboes, bassoons, trumpets, and strings, in score. [By Giovanni Paisiello, 1793.] In the present copy numerous cuts have been made for performance [in London?]. Characters: Miss Meri, Mlle. Pate, Mr. Perruque, Bastiano, Gelinda, Mr. Dull, and Don Berlicco.

Additional 16076-16078.

Paper; ff. 213, 128, 173. Late 18th cent. Oblong folio.

"IL RÈ Teodoro in Venezia: Drama Eroico-comico" in 2 Acts, with overture, symphonies, and accompaniments, for clarinets, oboes, flutes, bassoons, horns, trumpets and strings, and a figured bass for harpsichord, in score, by Giovanni Paisiello [1784]. Characters: Lisetta, Gafforio, Teodoro, Taddeo, Sandrino, Acmete, and Belisa; with Choruses of Maidens, etc.

Additional 16079.

Paper; ff. 321. Late 18th cent. Oblong folio.

"IL BARBIERE di Siviglia": Opera in 4 Acts (altered to 3), with symphonies and accompaniments for clarinets, flutes, oboes, bassoons, horns and strings, and a bass, occasionally figured, for harpsichord, in score, by Giovanni Paisiello [St. Petersburg, 1776]; wrongly described at the beginning (in a rather later hand) as "L' Amore Ingegnoso" o sia 'Il Tutore Ingannato,' which work was written for Rome in 1785. The present MS. was evidently prepared for a special performance of the work, judging by the numerous cuts, etc., in it. Characters: Il Conte [Almaviva], Figaro, Rosina, Bartolo, Don Basilio, L' Alcalde, a Notary, etc.

Additional 16080.

Paper; ff. 307. Late 18th cent. Oblong folio.

"LA FRASCATANA": Opera in 3 Acts, with symphonies and accompaniments for flutes, oboes, clarinets, trumpets, horns, and strings, and a figured bass for harpsichord, in score, by Giovanni Pais[i]ello [1774]. The "cavatina Catalani" on f. 24b must refer to a later performance (in London). Characters: Il Cavaliere, Pagnotto, Don Fabrizio, Violante, Nardone, Donna Stella (Marianna Farnese), and Lisotta.

Additional 16081.

Paper; ff. 222. Late 18th cent. Oblong folio.

"LA MODISTA Raggiratrice": Opera in 2 Acts, with symphonies and accompaniments for flutes, oboes, trumpets, horns, bassoons, and strings, in score, by Giovanni Paisiello, Naples, 1787. Numerous cuts have been made for a performance [in London?]. Characters: Madama, Ninetta, Chiarina, Gianferrante, Mitridate, Don Gavino, and Ceccotto.

Additional 16082, 16083.

Paper; ff. 163, 136. Late 18th cent. Oblong folio. The MS. was "The Gift of Mad^{me} Catalani at Richmond to John Walker."

Paper; ff. 295. Late 18th cent. Oblong folio.

"INTERMEZZI (sic) delle 'Due Contesse'—In Roma. Alla Valle. Nel Carnovale." By Giovanni Paisiello [Vienna, 1776]. The present MS. corresponds closely with the transcript contained in Add. 32589 (below, p. 368.).

Additional 16088, 16089.

Paper; ff. 78, 153. Late 18th cent. Oblong folio.

"DISFATTA di Dario: Dramma Tragico" in 3 Acts, with symphonies and accompaniments for flutes, oboes, horns, trumpets, and strings, in score, by Giovanni Paisiello [about 1775]. Characters: Barsene, Statira, Alessandro, Nearco, Seleuco, and Dario.

Additional 16090.

Paper; ff. 110. Late 18th cent. Oblong folio.

"I GIOCHI D' Agrigento' Del Sig^r D. Giovanni Paisiello, ridotti in partite Dal Sig^r Luigi Gianella," sc. an arrangement of some of the principal numbers in that 3-Act opera [1793] for an orchestra consisting of flutes, oboes, horns, bassoons, and strings, in score. Characters: Eraclide, Aspasia, Clearco.

Additional 16091.

Paper; ff. 237. Late 18th cent. Oblong folio. Belonged to Thomas Walker.

"L' AMOR CONTRASTATO," sc. "La Molinara," by Giovanni Paisiello [1788]. In score. Act i only. Scenes 2-7 vary considerably from another transcript of the work contained in Eg. 2510, 2511 (above, p. 351).

Additional 16092.

Paper; ff. 176. Late 18th cent. Oblong folio.

“‘LA NINA Pazza’: Dramma Giocoso per Musica,” by Giovanni Paisiello, corresponding closely with the copy contained in Add. 31727 (below, p. 363). Act ii only. The name of Marianna is substituted in the present MS. for that of Susanna.

Additional 16107.

Paper; ff. 103. Late 18th cent. Oblong folio.

“‘IL SERVO padrone” [1793]: Opera, with symphonies and accompaniments for oboes, horns, trumpets, and strings, and a figured bass for harpsichord, in score, by [Nicolò] Piccinni. Act i only. Characters: Dorilla, Lesbina, Baggiano, Polemone.

Additional 16114, 16115.

Paper; ff. 300, 204. Late 18th cent. Oblong folio.

“‘ARMIDA”: Opera in 2 Acts, with overture, ballets, symphonies and accompaniments for flutes, oboes, clarinets, horns, trumpets, bassoons, drums, and strings, in score. [By V. Righini, 1788.] A German version is occasionally written below the text. Characters: Armida, Rinaldo, and Ubaldo, with Choruses of Nymphs, Handmaidens of Armida, and Furies.

Additional 16118.

Paper; ff. 391. Late 18th cent. Oblong folio.

“‘AXUR, König von Ormus: Eine heroisch-komische Oper in 5 Aufzügen,” by Salieri. [From the Italian version “Axur, rè d’Ormus,” Vienna, 1788, which was itself an adaptation of “Tarare,” Paris, 1787.] The orchestra employed consists of trumpets, horns, flutes, oboes, clarinets, drums, cymbals, mandoline, bassoons, and strings, in score. Most of the recitativi secchi are omitted. The Italian version contained in Add. 34227, 34228 (above, p. 310) varies in several respects from the present copy. Characters, as in the above MS., with substitution of Grighella for Brighetta.

Additional 16119.

A COMPOSITION of rather a nondescript character, to which the composer, W. [Friedrich Ernst] Bach, has given the title of "Concerto Buffo. Posse." It consists of a short overture and a quasi-recitative for a bass voice, to be sung by "Kapellmeister," probably the composer himself, who introduces the following toy instruments: "Trommel," "Papagens Flöte," "Maultrommel," "Kuckuk," "Leyer," "Trompete," and "Knarre," with accompaniments for an orchestra composed of flutes, oboes, bassoons, horns, trumpets, drums, and strings, in full score. Autograph. At the beginning (ff. 1-10) is a pianoforte score in another hand, on the cover of which it is stated that the author [of the words] was C. Stein.

COMPOSITIONS by, or in the hand of, Johann Nepomuk Hummel.

1. Numbers and sketches of numbers, apparently from one or more Italian operas, in the hand, and probably the composition, of Hummel. They are in vocal score, with an occasional bass for pianoforte, and comprise settings for 1 to 6 voices of the following words:

"Caro, adorabile." f. 1;—a duet (Lisietta and Giacinto), beg. "Sento che in petto" [probably from "Il viaggiator ridicolo"]. f. 2;—"Mentre dormi amor." ff. 4, 9;—"La Pastorella al prato." ff. 6, 17;—"Per pietà, bell' idol mio" [? from "Artaserse"]. ff. 10, 12, 12b, 14b;—"Ah, felice amor." f. 13;—"Se lontan, ben mio." f. 16;—"Già nel cor nascer mi sento." f. 18b;—"Io mi voglio maritare." ff. 20b, 25b;—"Anima mia sei tu." f. 23;—"Ti sento, bel fior." f. 24;—

"A goder ci chiama amore." f. 28;—"Ogn' anno passa un' anno." f. 29;—"Al lavoro, alla campagna." f. 30;—"Soave sia il vento." f. 31b;—"Giovani liete" (different from the chorus in Mozart's "Nozze di Figaro"). f. 32b;—"Oh, che incanto." f. 34;—"Se questo mio core." f. 35b;—"Secondate, aurette amiche." f. 36. On f. 21 are some fragments of passages in Paisiello's "Don Chisciotte" [about 1775].

2. Three vocal scores of the buffo trio, "Spiritelli, che intorno volate," from Hummel's "Il viaggiator ridicolo" [1797]. Sung originally (?) by Fräulein Hesse, Herr Rathmayer, and Ignaz Sonnleithner. ff. 93, 101, 106. Followed by an aria, "Sul[1]e sponde del torbido Lete," from the same opera. (f. 114).

Paper; A.D. 1837. Small folio.

"AIR composé expressément pour le début de Duprez dans 'les Huguenots,' par Meyerbeer, qui lui a envoyé, écrite de sa main, l'ébauche ci-incluse.—Cet air inédit a été chanté 10 fois par Duprez—en 1837—et supprimé comme inutile." The above description is signed "G[ilbert] Duprez." The music was written for insertion in Act v of the Opera, as an alternative to the original setting of the scene beginning "Il l'aura! oui. Courons aux armes," following the air "A la lueur de leurs torches," as published in 1836. The melody only of the first part of the air is given, but the second portion of it has the pianoforte part written under it, in score, followed by a neat copy of the same.

NUMBERS from Operas by M. W. Balfe, mostly autograph, and in full score, the instrumental portions being written for flutes, oboes, clarinets, trumpets, horns, bassoons, trombones, ophicleides, drums, cymbals, and strings. Several of the pieces are mere fragments.

1. Selection from "La Bohémienne" [1869], including a scene (Guards and Gipsies), apparently from Act. ii, imperfect at the beginning. f. 1;—a symphony in $\frac{2}{4}$ time leading up to a recitative. f. 7;—the stretta of the Finale to Act i (cf. Add. 29336A, f. 68). f. 12;—a scene leading up to the duet in no. 14 (cf. Add. 29336B, f. 132b). f. 19;—a few bars of introduction to the Chœur de la fête (cf. Add. 29336A, f. 130). f. 25;—the air (la Reine), beg. "Cachons leur mes alarmes," with pianoforte accompaniment (cf. Add. 29336B, f. 135b). f. 28;—a sketch of a march. f. 30;—Morceau d'ensemble (Sarah, Stenio, Narcisse), beg. "Ciel, quel crime affreux," apparently forming part of the finale to Act iv. f. 32.
2. A selection from "La Zingara," the Italian version of "The Bohemian

Girl," including the beginning of a recitative and cavatina, beg. "A te l' addio," sung by Gualtiero, London, Jan. 1858. ff. 36-48;—Act i, scene 6, beg. "Che avvenne mai," Bal-labile Scozzese, and part of Finale i. ff. 49-59b;—the prompter's copy of Yelva's aria, "Di tanto eccesso," followed by the score of the same. ff. 62, 67;—a scena romanza, "Sempre torna il mio pensiero." f. 88;—and scenas (Arline, etc.) leading up to the March and the Finale in Act ii. ff. 96, 100, 103.

3. "Cracovienne," from Act ii of an Opera, probably "La Bohémienne." f. 112.
4. "Me felice: cavatina," with piano-forte accompaniment. f. 124.

Additional 29354, 29355.

“THE TALISMAN” [originally named “The Knight of the Leopard”]: English Opera in 3 Acts, in score, composed by M. W. Balfe in, or soon after, 1864, but not performed till 1874. It was then given at Drury Lane as “Il Talismano,” the Italian translation of the text being made by G. Zaffira, by whom it has been added in the present MS. below the English text. Mostly autograph. The overture given here was not discovered in time for publication with the score of the Opera, and was played for the first time on 29 July, 1876, as attested by the composer's widow, Mme. Lina Balfe. There are a few notes in the hand of the composer's son-in-law, A. H. Behrend. The instruments employed are flutes, oboes, clarinets, trumpets, cornets, horns, corno inglese, bassoons, trombones, ophicleide, drums, cymbals, organ, harp, and strings. In two volumes. The opening of Finale ii is wanting, and there are several variations from the published edition of Act iii, the most important being in the Finale, where the air, "Flou'ret, I kiss thee," is re-introduced. At the end (vol. ii, f. 356) is added a scene (Richard, Berengaria, Edith Plantagenet, and Lord de Vaux) closely resembling the chorus, "Cantiam dell' Inghilterra." Characters: The above, Sir Kenneth, The Emir, Nectabanus, King of France, Duke of Austria, Arabs, Pages, English, French, Austrians, etc.

Egerton 2736, passim.

Paper; about 1864-1869. Folio. The MS. also contains Solfeggi (after 1842) and Songs (1847), described below.

DRAMATIC COMPOSITIONS, with symphonies and accompaniments for horns, oboes, strings, etc., in score, by Franz Joseph Haydn, copied from the originals at Eszterház and Eisenstadt.

1. Four "Arie per la com[m]edia 'Il Marchese,'" [1]763, viz.:—(a) "Navicella da vento agitata." f. 1;—(b) "Tu mi piaci." f. 4;—(c) "Trema, Tyrran (sic) regnante." f. 7;—and (d) "Non [h]o genio." f. 16. K. F. Pohl, in his Joseph Haydn, vol. i, pp. 231, 232, appears to consider "Il Marchese" the same as "La Marchesa Nepola," but it is more probably the play mentioned in the same passage as "Il Sganarello," which was composed in 1762. Characters: Santa Barbara, Colombina, Leopoldo and Scanarello (sic), etc. ff. 1–18.
2. "'La Canterina': Opera Buffa Intermezzo in Musica a Quattro Voci. Composto dal Giuseppe Haydn, anno [1]766"; with flutes, corni inglesi, etc. In 2 Acts. According to a note made by Pohl in 1869, the text is very imperfect. Characters: Gasparina, Don Ettore, Appolonia (sic), and Don Pelagio. f. 19.
3. "'Lo Speciale': Drama in 3 Akten in Musik gesetzt von Joseph Haydn . . . 1768"; described in the original libretto (given here) as "Dramma Giocoso." Transcribed by Joseph Strauss, organist at Eisenstadt. The introductory symphony and beginning of Act i are wanting. Flutes and bassoons are occasionally employed in the orchestra. Characters: Sempronio, Mengone, Grilletta, and Volpino. ff. 79–193b.

"LE PESCATRICI": Opera in 3 Acts, with symphonies and accompaniments for horns, corni inglesi, oboes, flutes, bassoons, and strings, in score, by Franz Joseph Haydn, 1770. In the same hand as "La Canterina" (Add. 32664, above). Several passages wanting in the original (from which the present transcript was made) are indicated. Characters: Lesbina, Nerina, Frisellino, Burlotto, Lindoro, Eurilda, and Masticco.

Additional 32666.

Paper; ff. 192. 19th cent. Oblong folio. Belonged to K. F. Pohl.

"L' INFEDELTA' Delusa': Burletta per Musica in due Atti . . . par Joseph Haydn . . . 1773"; with symphonies and accompaniments for horns, oboes, bassoons, and strings, in score. Transcribed by L. Kugler. Characters: Vespina, Nencio, Filippo, Nanni, and Sandrina.

Additional 32667.

Paper; ff. 218. 19th cent. Oblong folio.

"L' INCONTRO Improviso": Opera in 3 Acts, with symphonies and accompaniments for horns, oboes, bassoons, trumpets, drums (big and little), triangles, cinellen (? = cymbals), and strings, in score, by Franz Joseph Haydn, 1777. Transcribed from the original. Characters: Un Calandro, Osmín, Rezia, Dardane, Balkis, and Ali.

Additional 32668.

Paper; ff. 289. 19th cent. Oblong folio.

COMIC DRAMAS in 3 Acts, with symphonies and accompaniments for horns, flutes, oboes, bassoons, trumpets, drums, and strings, in score, by Franz Joseph Haydn; as performed in the theatre at Eszterház. Transcribed from the originals.

1. "Il Mondo della Luna," 1777. Characters: Ecclitico, Buona-fede, Ernesto, Cecco, Flaminia, Clarice, Lisetta, Scholars, Cavaliers, etc. ff. 1-151.

2. "La Fedeltà premiata," 1779. Acts i and ii. First performed at Eszterház in 1780 at the opening of the new theatre. The finale to Act i is wanting; other gaps in the original MS. are mentioned in locis. Characters: Nerina, Lindoro, Melibeo, Amaranta, Perruchetto, Fileno and Fillide alias Celia. ff. 152-289.

Additional 33361, 33362.

Paper; ff. 177, 121. 19th cent. Oblong folio.

"ADELSON e Salvini": Opera in 2 Acts, with symphonies and accompaniments for flutes (ottavino, etc.), oboes, clarinets, horns, trumpets, bassoons, trombones, drums, serpents (gibas or cimba[s]so), harp, and strings, in full score, by Vincenzo Bellini [1824]. Characters: Fanny, M^{me} Rivers, Geronimo, Struley, Bonifacio, Salvini, Nelly and Adelson; with Chorus of Peasants.

SONG with Latin words, "Ad mensam philosophie sitientes currite," immediately following a Sequence written in the same hand, both of them being accompanied by neums.

Egerton 274, ff. 98–118, 131b.

Vellum; late 13th cent. $6 \times 4\frac{1}{4}$ in. The MS. belonged at an early period to Jacobus Dogimon (ff. 1, 1b), and in 1832 to Dr. Van de Velde of Ghent. At the end is the name of Jehan Perthuis of Hacquemere. It also contains Motets (vol. i, p. 254), Sacred Songs (p. 423), etc.

SONGS with music, by chansonniers of the end of the 12th, and first half of the 13th, century. In several cases the original words of the first verses have been erased and sacred Latin words substituted in their place. The notes have also been altered. Most of the names of the authors which do not appear in the margin, as well as the first lines of some of the poems, are taken from Documents manuscrits de l'ancienne Littérature de la France... par M. Paul Meyer, 1871, Part i, pp. 7, 12, 43–49.

Additional 5665, f. 53b.

Vellum; temp. Henry VIII. 10×7 in. See also under Motets (vol. i, p. 260).

"Y HAUE ben a foster"; apparently for one voice, but, as the leaf which originally followed is lost, and as most of the compositions in the MS. are for two or three voices, this may also have been written for more voices. It is given (evidently from the present MS.) in J. Stafford Smith's Musica Antiqua, 1812, as a song, or a specimen of plainsong; but it differs from the setting of the same words by Dr. Cooper in Add. 31922, f. 65b. See W. Chappell's Popular Music, ed. Wooldridge, 1893, i, p. 50.

Paper; 17th cent. Octavo. See also under Motets (vol. i, p. 282).

"Goe thy way, since thou wilt goe": two verses of a song in the treble clef, without accompaniment. Anonymous.

Additional 36877, passim.

Paper; 17th cent. Octavo. The MS. also contains Duets (above, p. 58).

"VILLANELLE di più sorte con l' Intauolatura per sonare et cantare su la Chitarra alla Spagnola—Di Giovanni Casalotti," who is presumably the composer, as well as the owner of the arms on f. 1 and on the cover. The tablature consists merely of letters without lines written above the first verses of the songs, the initial words of which are given in Index I. The guitar is apparently intended to be played in unison with the voice. From the presence of numerous songs with Spanish words it may be inferred that the MS. is of Neapolitan, or at least South Italian, origin.

Sloane 1941, ff. 33-34b.

Paper; 2nd half of 17th cent. Folio.

"WHEN Aurelia first I courted"; without accompaniment. [By Pelham Humfrey.] The lower half of the two pages on which the song is written is occupied by Aurelia's reply, beg. "W[he]n that Charles at first ador'd mee."

Paper; ff. 81. Late 17th cent. Oblong octavo.

COLLECTION of Songs, chiefly Italian, with a bass (occasionally figured) for harpsichord, in score. Said by Humphrey Wanley to be in the hand of Cornelio Galli, "native of Lucca . . . one of the Gentlemen of the Chapel to Queen Catherine, in the time of Charles II. . . . a very great master of the finest manner of Singing." Possibly some of the songs were composed by him. No composers are named in the MS.; the names given below to nos. 1, 5, and 12-14 have been taken from a MS. (24 F. 4) in the Fitzwilliam Museum, Cambridge, where most of the songs occur, in the same order.

Egerton 1519-1521, passim.

Paper; after 1726 (latest known date). Folio. Belonged to Mr. Roussel, ancien Ferm. General" [? Adrien Roussel d'Inval, "Général des Finances" in 1735]. See also above, p. 253.

COLLECTION of what are described on the covers as "Chansons historiques," consisting of a great number of scurrilous songs relating to persons and events connected with the French court between 1617 and 1726. Many are contained also in Egerton MSS. 814-817 and King's MSS. 330-337 (see Songs, after 1744 and after 1749, below). In most cases the words are preceded by the tunes to which they are to be sung, which, when named, are given below. The chansons to be sung to the same air are generally strung together, as if forming one. They are all unaccompanied. The dates given in square brackets are taken from Egerton 814-817. In three volumes.

ITALIAN SONGS, for a soprano voice, with a bass (occasionally figured) for harpsichord, in score. Except where the contrary is stated, they are Cantatas and composed by Giovanni Buononcini. The MS. was apparently begun in 1736 (see f. 2). The instrumental fragments on ff. 30b, 41b, 51b, 86b, and 116b are in a different hand, and appear to have no connection with the songs.

King's 330-337, passim.

Paper; after 1749. Quarto. See also above, p. 277.

"RECUEIL de Chansons choisies en Vaudevil[les], pour servir à l'Histoire Anecdote depuis 1600 jusqu'à . . . 1749." Eight volumes. The melodies are given without accompaniment. As almost all the songs and their tunes are included in Egerton MSS. 814-817, the detailed catalogue of them is not repeated here; any variations in the dates assigned to them are indicated in the description of the Egerton MSS. (see above, pp. 528-556); the initial words, as well as the names of the tunes, are given in Index I. The songs included here, but not in the Egerton collection, are:—

King's 330. "Saint Maigrin" [? 1652].

No name is given to the tune (which does not appear to be in Eg. 814-817). f. 107.

King's 331. "Pour suivre les maximes" [1682?]. f. 112b.

King's 332, 1. "Vne Troupe galante," 1696; air, "Tous les Bourgeois de Chartres." f. 26b.

2. "Maître Lully" [? Louis Lully, son of the composer J. B. Lully], 1696; air, "Vous m'entendez bien." f. 43.

3. "Ne renvoyez pas Pelletier," 1696; air, "Jean de Vert." f. 49b.

King's 333. "Quiconque a fait cette chanson" [1706?]; air, "Les Feuillantes." f. 105b.

King's 335. "Enfin, Comtesse toute aimable," 1724; air, "Réueillés vous, belle." f. 198b.

King's 336, 1. "Grand Roy, nous auons à viure," 1725; air, "Ton Humeur." f. 8b.

2. "A La Fosse, disoit Bissy," 1726; air, "Joconde." f. 11.

3. "Valeureuse Amazone" [? 1726]. f. 22b.

4. "Reprends, Vénus"; air, "Fy donc, Julien." f. 129.

5. "Vn Jésuite, voyant"; air, "La Curiosité." f. 137.

6. "Pensés vous réduire." f. 143.

7. "Il est encore au monde"; air, "Laissés paître." f. 146b.

8. "Du Sérieux de Melpomène" [1731?]; air, "La petite uieille surannée." f. 180b.

King's 337 (tunes at the end of the volume).

1. "La Trompet[t]e sonne," 1734; air, "Partes (sic) d'abord." f. 45b.

2. "Voicy matière nouvelle," 1734; air, "Ton humeur." f. 97.

3. "Joyeuse, Cailus, Maugiron," 1734; air, "Biribis." f. 103b.

4. "J'ay f. . . hier," 1735; air, "Voilà comme l'hom[m]e n'est jamais content." ff. 109b, 187b.

5. "Si vous voulez compter fleurette," 1735; air, "Chacun à son tour." f. 111.

6. "Le chef des poliçons," 1738; air, "La Béquille." f. 115.

7. "Ce mignon," 1741; air, "Joconde." f. 125b.

8. "Dialogue," beg. "Que je vois d'abbus" (sic), 1741; air, "La confession." ff. 128b, 185b.

9. "Adieu, Tambours," 1742; air, "Les Mousquetaires." f. 138b.

10. "Or écoutez, grands et petits," 1742; air, "Les Biribis." f. 141.

11. "Quoy, dira-t-on rien," 1742; air, "De tous les Capucins." f. 147.

12. "Or écoutez, Peti[t]s et Grands," 1742; sung to several tunes, including the following new ones, "Tient (sic), serrez (?) ma pipe." f. 154;—"J'auray vne robe." f. 155;—"Au fond de mon caveau." f. 156. ff. 153b-156b.

13. "Fleury, le crucifix en main," 1743; air, "Les pendus." f. 157.

14. "Chacun sait que les Pantins," 1744; air, "Choisy." ff. 161, 185b.

15. "On n'entend plus," 1744; air, "Ma Mère, mariéz moy." f. 162b.

16. "Ma voisine Perrette," 1744; air, "O begué." ff. 164, 185b.

Paper; A.D. 1813, etc. Oblong quarto. The MS. was probably given by Queen Hortense to her Equerry, Baron de Vaux, and by him to his daughter, Madame [Marie Constance Albertine de Mosson de Vaux, Baronne] de Montaran. The latter gave it to General [Sir Robert] Wilson, and from him it passed to his daughter Rosabella Stanhope Wilson, whose husband, the Rev. Herbert Randolph, presented it in 1876 to the British Museum. (See Dict. of Nat. Biog., vol. lxii, p. 131, and the Baroness de Montaran's La clef des Champs, 1852, p. 273.) The MS. also contains Choruses (above, p. 51).

SONGS, with pianoforte accompaniment, in score, by Hortense, wife of Louis Bonaparte, King of Holland. Nos. 1-12 are included, in almost exactly the same order, in the Romances Mises en Musique par S[a] M[ajesté] L[a] R[eine] H[ortense], which appears (from the date on some of the engravings) to have been published in 1813.
